THE NEXT CONGRESS.

Chairman Babcock of the Republican Congressional Committee is not day. so sanguine of electing a majority of the next House of Representatives, as some members of that party who know much less of the situation. In an interview with the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, he says:

At present there are twenty-five States that have been apportioned by the Democrats and eleven by the Republicans. The others elect at large, having only one or two members each. The vote that elected Harrison President in 1888, gave the Republicans only three majority in the House, and the same vote today would give the Democrats twelve majority.

The Democrats have 120 members and the Republicans seven from the to the Armory Hall on Saturney South. The Democrats have 99 members and the Republicans 120 from the North. To secure a majority the Republicans must elect 173 members out of 229 districts or 75 per cent of the members in the Eastern, Western and Northern States, Chairman Babcock believes that the control of the next Congress will practically determine the next Presideutial election in 1896. He thinks there is a strong probability that neither of the old parties will have a majority of the Presidential electors.

This will throw the election into the Heuse. In that case Nevada, Idaho, Montana, Colorado, Washington and Wyoming will have as much voice in electing the President as New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Lilinois, Each State will have but one vote and a majority of the States very cheap at Golden's. m24 elect the President. This shows the importance of electing men who are unequivocally in favor of free coinage to the next Congress. It is very improbable that either of the old parties will control a majority of the States in the House of Representatives, and with free coinage men holding the balance of power, the election of a President favorable to silver would be almost assured. With such possibilities the absurdity of electing a Congressman from Nevada who would be bound by a caucus dominated by Reed, Burrows & Co., must be apparent to every intelligent person in the State. Nevada should have a Congressman who will take advantage of every opportunity that offers itself to further the cause of free coinage independent of the decrees of Republican and Democratic caucuses, and regardless of consequences to those parties.-Journal.

DEATH OF ADELE WATERS.

Adele Waters, the noted actress, is dead. She was a Woman of great beauty, with a quaint charm in her manner which made for her many warm friends, who, doubtless in speaking of her life will draw about the form of the dead actress, the mantle of charity, remembering in their sin cere sorrow that none of the players on the stage of life are perfect, and as the curtain falls on the career of nche in the winter. Persons accusthis one, her faults will make her achievements on the stage none the less brilliant.

The Industrials.

Des Moines, Iowa, April 21. -General Manager St. John, of the Rock Island and Pacific Railroad, does not think the people have anything to fear from the Commorreal army while it is passing through the country. He said: "It is made up of sober, intelligent, determined men, nine-tentils of whom are American born. They are respectable, honest and remarkable well organized: There are no bums among them. If they have a few more days of such treatment as they had during the last few days, it is terrible to think what may happen, You can't tell what men will do when hangry and hunted down. This gathering is like a whirlwind. It is very similar to the French revolution. It is a terrible thing, and makes me sad to find 1,600 respectable, well-meaning men reduced to such desperate straits in this country. We expect these things in the old countries, but it is no part of the program of this Republic. It makes us feel that something is wrong with the Government."

Kelly's contingent of the Army is still stranded.
